

Total Control of Your Business

Windward Software

Gives you Back Complete Control of All Aspects of
Your Business

Helping You Run Your Business,
Instead of it Running You

What is Windward's System Five?

A point-of-sale (POS) system is a combination of computer software and hardware that processes and records retail sales at the point of purchase. POS systems vary in sophistication (and price) from the basic electronic cash register to the multi-user/location software suites.

Windward System Five is POS management software that runs on standard 'off the shelf' personal computer hardware and connects with a range of affordable hardware peripherals, such as barcode readers, receipt printers, pole displays and more.

Windward System Five is also an integrated solution, meaning staff can create an invoice without knowing anything about accounting or inventory control, yet the invoice they enter automatically updates those sections of the entire system.

Unlike a lot of "off-the-shelf" products like Quickbooks or Accpac, Windward's System Five is a high-end point of sale, business management system that includes inventory control, invoicing, customer billing, accounts receivable, accounts payable, general ledger, purchase orders, contact management, commission calculator, appointment scheduler, and many other features.

It is a one write system that will take care of all the book work automatically, right down to the final balance sheet, at a fraction of the cost of competitor's solutions.

Why do you Need System Five?

Let's be honest, most businesses need a lot more than the "cheap" off-the-shelf solution can offer. Most businesses need a solution that can save time as well as money; something that can make it easier to run the business in general... something a little more... something that:

- has no downtime as you transition from existent software
- is completely scalable
- has built in accounting features and inventory control mechanisms
- is guaranteed to work
- has real-time reporting and visibility
- has built in e-commerce capabilities
- starts making you money right out of the box

If your business needs something more than the barebones, then you need Windward's System Five.

Why Do You Want Control?

There's certainly no overriding reason why you should automate your business with an intelligent Point of Sale system like Windward System Five - unless you want to save money, improve your business decisions, increase customer satisfaction, improve cash flow, save time, etc., etc., ... and did we mention, save money?

Isn't it important that you have a tool that allows you to see all the various facets of your business, from front to back office, so that you can make the RIGHT business decisions at a moments notice?

Do you have that capability now?

We've heard it before, "a Point of Sale system is just a fancy Cash Register."

Well sort of ... but it's much, much more. A Cash Register does one thing (but, admittedly, it does that one thing quite well) - it tells you how much money your business has brought in that day. But a cash register can never tell you what your profit margin was, and it can't tell you what item (or Salesperson) was the biggest seller that day. It certainly can't tell you how much inventory you have on the shelf, or what needs to be ordered. System Five can do all this, and more.

Because Windward's System Five is a full-package business solution, your front counter sales is integrated with your inventory control and back-end accounting.

What does that mean?

It means you can eliminate those costly double-entry errors, and never accidentally oversell items.

It also means that with the full integration of touch screen technology and bar code scanners, you can whisk your customers through check outs with minimal fuss.

Even more so, you can have customizable pop up screens attached to individual customer accounts that allow you to have all types of information at your fingertips - from asking them how their last fishing trip went, to reminding them of the new product feature they were interested in.

System Five also has an integrated accounting backend that will surely reduce your bookkeepers workload and stress, leaving them free to do the important stuff, like helping grow the company.

Imagine if you not only had that level of control over your entire business, but that you had a software solution that gave you that level of control while still managing to free up valuable time and resources that could then focus on growing your company.

You could have all that and more, with Windward's System Five.

Let me show you what

Windward's System Five

can do for your business...

Contact Us

800.663.5750

sales@wws5.com